Addressing the challenge of global warming - Congressman Welch addresses the need to take meaningful action to confront global warming and details his efforts to make his office and the Capitol complex carbon neutral.